Executive Summary

Project: scottyab/rootbeer

HIGHLIGHTS

The Project Lead, Scott Alexander-Bown, has consistently impressed us with his numerous contributions to the project; 33% of total commits have be attributed to Mr. Alexander-Bown. Several other project programmers have also contributed, but numbers vary among programmers. Some notable commits that were made were the bug fixes and ease-of-use alterations. Please discuss potential employment statuses for employees:

- Matthew Rollings (stealthcopter) - major contributor
- Frieder Bluemle (friederbluemle) - minor contributor
- biddster - poor contributor
- Andy Barber (andyb129) - poor contributor

FIGURES

It is shown that some authors have been working on the project way beyond 300 weeks. Many of the authors have left the project in the earlier weeks.

REFLECTION

During this project, there were many git commands that were extremely helpful to use.

Such commands like: `git checkout -b branch-name`, `git merge` were used in making the analyses easier to access and understand. The Github API was essential in successfully repo-mining the overall project. Researching and implementing the aspects and methods used to access the data for analysis was no easy task, but ultimately, the analysis was conducted in a timely manner.
